

BOOK DISCUSSIONS and LITERARY-BASED TEEN VOLUME PROGRAMMING

Teens are invited to discuss books with other teens, meet authors, sign up for creative writing workshops, join improvisation workshops and more at their local Chicago Public Library.

Book discussions give teens a chance to:

- articulate their thoughts
- explore new ideas
- meet other teens
- enjoy the library on a whole new level

Author Chris Crutcher

"I got to make new friends and jump back into improv for the first time in years."

— Teen

"Chris Crutcher gave the most phenomenal speech that left me awestruck, both as a teen and as someone who cares about fellow teens and the issues we are faced with."
